Synopsis
India Opal Buloni is a lonely girl who has just moved to Naomi, Florida, with her father, a preacher. Opal's mother left them when Opal was three years old. One day, Opal's father sends her to the Winn-Dixie grocery store, where she sees a dog running through the store, knocking over produce. To save the dog from the pound, Opal claims the dog is hers and hurriedly names him "Winn-Dixie." The dog is a mess--skinny with bald patches all over him--but he seems to smile at Opal, and he later charms her father, who decides she can keep him.

After Opal adopts Winn-Dixie, she makes some friends in Naomi: Miss Franny Block, the librarian, who tells Opal stories, including one about her great-grandfather Littmus; Otis, the pet store clerk, who magically calms animals with his guitar music; and Gloria Dump, who tells Opal to judge people only by what they are doing now, not by what they have done.

When a thunderstorm breaks out during a party hosted by Gloria and Opal, Winn-Dixie, who has a terrible fear of storms, runs away. As Opal and her father search for the dog, they both confront their feelings about Opal's mother leaving them. They return to the party and discover that Winn-Dixie was there all along. Opal and her father enjoy the rest of the party with all their new friends.

Open-Ended Questions
Use these open-ended questions as the basis for class discussions, student presentations, or extended writing assignments.

Inferential Comprehension
Early in the story, Opal says, "Just about everything that happened to me that summer happened because of Winn-Dixie." What things were a result or effect of Winn-Dixie coming into Opal's life?

The title of the book echoes this statement of Opal's, and nearly everything that happens in the story is because of Winn-Dixie, but the most important things involve Opal becoming closer to her father and Opal making friends in her new hometown.

Inferential Comprehension
Many of the characters in the story have clear weaknesses as well as strengths. Compare and contrast the characters in the story. What are their strengths and weaknesses?

The preacher was very serious and thought hard about things, but he avoided "sticking his head out into the world." Miss Franny was a good storyteller, but she sometimes had small shaking fits. Otis was a talented although shy musician, but he had once been arrested for hitting a police officer. Gloria Dump could see into a person's heart, but she had poor eyesight.
